ABOUT RSACE

With an endeavour to give back and share the myriad experiences of over 4 decades, Padmashree Ramesh Sippy gave form to RSACE, an institute that is one of its kind. It bridges the gap between theory and hands-on knowledge by highly experienced industry professionals.

THE RSACE MOTTO

Where Dreams Get Wings

THE RSACE VISION

To build a globally acclaimed comprehensive learning platform for those who dream to fly high in the universe of moving images.

THE RSACE MISSION

By providing a curriculum that carries forward the legacy of Padmashree Ramesh Sippy with a blend of theory and interactive online classes for those who want to "Skill and Upskill". Training imparted by highly experienced industry professionals and thereon providing opportunities through an inspiring and conducive environment. RSACE aims to create global professionals that create freely and yet responsibly in the cinema & entertainment landscape.

“There has been a fundamental change over the years in the way cinema and entertainment is consumed. In addition to cinema screens and televisions at home, there are a plethora of handheld devices at one’s disposal. The internet has become a major source when it comes to consuming content – computers, laptops, mobile phones, tablets define the new-age consumers of entertainment

Founder and Chairman

“The idea of creating an infrastructure that would be the perfect platform, to share knowledge with generations to come in a wholistic manner, floated in and out of our minds for a while. However, we were not ready to commence the journey until we had the right ingredients that would give students a futuristic, enjoyable and complete experience.

Ex chairman NFDC

In the year 2016 CBFC certified nearly 25000 feature films, videos, ad films, short films etc. This shows there is a humongous work force continually required to operate in the ever growing moving images landscape. The television industry itself is about Rs.60,000 crore, not to mention the other media platforms where a huge amount of investment is also happening. To create skilled professionals who can operate in these mediums without too much hand-holding is the need of the hour and it is exciting that RSACE has come at the right time and the right place.

Films are a part of all our lives and they serve the public by conveying very important messages of change and evolution. With the globally disturbing times we live in today, it is essential that more people create cinema that can bring about the much needed change in ideologies, cultures, values and habits. The students at RSACE will study the art of film making in a creative yet responsible way that could influence change in the world at large.
